

FONDUE FUN: NEW IDEAS FOR YOUR PARTY (NEW FOR 2010)

At your party you could do any of the following ideas ...

WHY HOST A FONDUE PARTY TO PROTEST?

- Make sure your guests know why they are there. To do this you can print the factsheet from www.stophetraffik.org/fondue and ask your guests to read it and talk about what they have learnt.
- You can watch a short clip about a man called Tony Chocolanay who tried to arrest himself in Holland for eating chocolate made by slave labour. You can watch it here <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=vWrDTdrsuGM>.
- If there are young children at the party read them the story of Chaga and the Chocolate factory which is available at www.stophetraffik.org/chaga.

TAKE ACTION!

WRITE THE WRAPPERS ...

- Tell the chocolate industry what you think: Print a campaign letter for each guest to fill in and send them to the cocoa industry. This way each of your guests can mark their objection to the use of trafficked labour in the production of chocolate. Download and print letters from www.stophetraffik.org/fondue.
- Wrap industries knuckles with wrappers. Write a message on your traffik-free chocolate wrappers and send them with the campaign letters.
- Tell your guests about ACT: (Active Communities against Trafficking) where you can get together to campaign further against the cocoa industry and learn about different types of trafficking. www.stophetraffik.org/act

FUN & GAMES

SNEAKY GARLIC CHOCOLATE

Melt some chocolate and pour into an ice cube tray. In 1 or 2 of the cubes, place a raw garlic clove or something less disgusting if you're feeling kind. Making sure whatever you hide is well hidden. Leave to harden in the fridge. When it is time to play the game, sit in a circle and offer everyone a piece of chocolate. Pay attention to everybody's face because the idea is to guess who has eaten the garlic chocolate! The people who guess right are the winners / if no one guesses who ate the garlic, the garlic eater is the winner.

SPEEDY CHOCOLATE

On a flat surface (table is preferable) put one biscuit or cakes on each plate (it's desirable some are made with chocolate, some are gooey and there should be lots of cream). The number of plates should be equal to the number of the players. The participants have their hands tied together behind the backs. As the music plays the participants walk around the table. When the music stops they have to get to the nearest plate and start eating. You can repeat this as many times as you wish!

The first person to eat the whole piece of cake or biscuit, or, if you play more than one round (with increasingly big pieces of cake) the last person left standing is the winner!

CHOCOLATE GAME

Everyone should sit in a circle with one dice. In the middle of the circle is a plate with a block of chocolate on it next to a knife, fork, scarf, hat, gloves.

Everyone takes turns rolling the dice. When someone rolls a 6 they have to go into the middle of the circle, put on the hat, gloves and scarf and eat the chocolate with knife and fork one square at a time. At the same time, everyone else is still rolling the dice to try and get a six. As soon as someone else rolls a six, the person in the middle takes off the clothing and the new person puts them on and has a go at trying to eat the chocolate.
