Community Meeting example invite list

Everyone can contribute to ensuring a community is resilient to trafficking. Below is a list of parties you may like to invite to your community meeting

1. Personal network

Your first stop will be your network of personal contacts. Ask friends, family, work colleagues, and any groups you are a part of such as sports teams or arts societies

2. Charities / Non-Governmental Organisations with vulnerable person focus

For example, homeless charities, domestic violence shelters or rehabilitation support charities

3. Service providers

For example, housing support services, debt advice services, health service providers

4. Local businesses

Think about which businesses are vulnerable to being utilised by traffickers, for example, motels might be used for sexual exploitation; banks might be used by traffickers to pay in their profits; taxi firms may be used to move around trafficked victims

5. Community groups

Community groups may be willing to volunteer to run awareness-raising campaigns and events. Consider inviting local youth groups or faith groups
